

Gaby Wood

Writer - Non-fiction

Gaby Wood is Head of Books at the Daily Telegraph. Her first book, THE SMALLEST OF ALL PERSONS MENTIONED IN THE RECORDS OF LITTLENESS, originally appeared in the London Review of Books before being published by Profile Books. LIVING DOLLS: A MAGICAL HISTORY OF THE QUEST FOR ARTIFICIAL LIFE was published by Faber and Knopf to excellent reviews, and was nominated for the National Book Critics Circle Award in the US. She is currently working on a 'cultural biography' of the movie star Lana Turner.

Agents

Anna Webber

awebber@unitedagents.co.uk
+44(0)203 214 0876

Associate

Seren Adams

sadams@unitedagents.co.uk
+44 (0)203 214 0956

Publications

Non-Fiction

Publication Details Notes

LIVING DOLLS: A MAGICAL HISTORY OF THE QUEST FOR MECHANICAL LIFE 2002 UK: Faber; US: Knopf; Japanese: Seidosha	Ever since Pygmalion fashioned Galatea out of stone, men (and it is usually men, though the author of FRANKENSTEIN was of course a woman) have dreamed of creating artificial or mechanical life. In this fascinating book, Gaby Wood examines the pre-history of what we think of as a very modern idea: the 18th century flute-playing android of Vaucanson; the Automaton Chess Player of von Kempelen; Thomas Edison's creepy mechanical doll; and Melies' late 19th century experiments with moving images. A final chapter inverts the theme: Wood meets the sole survivor of the Doll family, who achieved fame in the 1930s as midgets with the Ringling Brothers Circus and as 'Munchkins' in The Wizard of Oz . LIVING DOLLS is a book about anxiety, ambition, and about what it is we believe makes us human.
---	--