

Harriet Gillian

Children's Author

After a marvelous few years studying Animation and Media in Bristol, Harriet headed straight for the bright lights of London and a career in 2D animation.

Animating on film titles, TV series and many a Christmas advert, Harriet became fully immersed in all kinds of visual storytelling and eventually, after craving a viable outlet for her own ideas, turned her attention to the wonderful world of children's fiction; in particular, picture book texts and stories for young readers.
