

Craig Viveiros

Director, Writer, Visual Artist

Craig Viveiros is a film-maker and visual artist whose work spans film, TV, theatre, and installation art. His work has taken him around the world, collaborating with talent across the creative industries.

Always pushing creative boundaries and resisting any attachment to one style or genre, Craig brings a bold, cinematic approach to his work.

Whether it's critically-acclaimed character dramas such as RILLINGTON PLACE and BREATH TAKING, or if it's adapting established IP such as Agatha Christie's AND THEN THERE WERE NONE, Terry Pratchett's THE WATCH and H.G. Wells' THE WAR OF THE WORLDS, his experience across artistic disciplines allows him to bring a unique vision to the table.

Craig also runs 5iveFs - a creative vehicle focused on building projects that fuse artistic disciplines and give support, space and visibility to artists from under-represented communities.
