

The Estate of R H Mottram

Ralph Hale Mottram (1883-1971) was a novelist, poet, local historian and Lord Mayor of Norwich. He is best remembered for his SPANISH FARM trilogy (1927) which was based on his experiences in WW1 in France and Flanders. The first volume in the trilogy won the 1924 Hawthornden Prize and was later made into a film called Roses of Picardy. He also wrote a biography of John Galsworthy.
