

Bonita Norris

Writer

Bonita Norris was the youngest British woman to reach the summit of Mount Everest at the age of 22. She has since skied to the North Pole and become the first British woman to summit Mount Lhotse, the world's fourth highest mountain. In a month's time she will embark on a trip to climb K2, the world's most dangerous mountain. If she is successful she will make history.

