

Bronágh Taggart

Writer

Bronágh has written one episode on Lisa McGee's new TV series HOW TO GET TO HEAVEN FROM BELFAST for Hat Trick/Netflix and wrote one episode on the second series of BLUE LIGHTS for Two Cities/BBC. Bronágh is developing THE FERRYMAN, her original series for Conker Pictures; has written the pilot of a series based on an idea by Lewis Arnold on Lesley Molseed for The Forge/ITV and is under commission to write a pilot script with Two Cities. In addition, Bronágh is writing a treatment RABBIT PUNCH for Kudos and is also developing DR JOHN for Two Cities.

Other credits include GUARD, a short film that Bronágh wrote and starred in; TROUBLES, the second short film Bronágh wrote and executive produced; multiple episodes across all three series of BBC NI's student comedy drama 6DEGRESS; LAUREN AND CRAIG for CBBC / Zodiak; several episodes of THE LODGE for Disney; MILLIE INBETWEEN for Zodiak/CBBC; and DANI'S CASTLE for CBBC.

Her original 30' film, CALL IT AT NIGHT, was one of the films chosen for Coming Up 2013 for Touchpaper TV/Channel 4. Bronágh's first script – a 30' comedy-drama pilot entitled CRAZY KIDS was selected for a BAFTA-Roccliffe New Writing showcase in 2010. Her first play, SANCTUARY, was directed by Roisin McBrinn at the Arcola Theatre in July 2011.

Also an actress, Bronágh was most recently seen in the second series of THE FALL for Artists Studio/BBC NI and her other credits include the BAFTA-winning OCCUPATION (Kudos/BBC) directed by Nick Murphy Best: HIS MOTHER'S SON (BBC), Lisa McGee's JUMP; directed by Max Roberts at Live Theatre Newcastle, PLAYBOY OF THE WESTERN WORLD directed by John Crowley at the Old Vic and numerous credits for BBC radio, including the 2012 adaptation of James Joyce's ULYSSES.
