

Sandra Daniels

Writer

Born in London, Sandra spent an idyllic childhood in Cyprus before returning to England to live by the sea in Hastings with her family. A hungry reader and avid story writer, her school report from those days describes her as having a 'vivid imagination'.

Keen to become a journalist and be paid to write for a living, she landed her dream job as a trainee reporter on the local paper. She moved on to be News Editor before becoming a police press officer.

Agents

Laura Macdougall

LMacdougall@unitedagents.co.uk

Assistant

Eleanor Horn

ehorn@unitedagents.co.uk

02032140831