

Jamie Neale

Choreographer / Movement Director

Jamie Neale is a transformative, dynamic movement director and choreographer of Emmy-nominated and other award-winning works. He trained at Rambert School of Ballet & Contemporary Dance. Jamie works across multi-entertainment platforms of Film, TV, Fashion, Music & Commercials. His multiple award-winning piece Defiance enabled him to win prestigious competitions including the Burgos/New York Choreographic Competition & Belgrade International Choreographic Festival and he also provided the choreography for HBO's My Dinner With Hervé which was nominated for the 2019 Emmys in the category of Best Television Film.

Choreographer. Movement Director. Collaborator. Jamie is one of the most exciting creative minds around. What makes Jamie successful is his experience of working across disciplines – across diverse media, styles and working environments. Jamie's work speaks for itself. It's fresh and original. But Jamie speaks for his work too. He is highly proactive, kind-spirited and passionate about every project he does. It means that everyone who meets and works with Jamie – whether a director, client or production company – is assured that their project is in safe hands.

At the beginning of Jamie's creative journey he was selected to be part of the choreographic project Young Creatives, directed and mentored by Wayne McGregor at the Royal Opera House.
