

Dexter Dias

Writer - non-fiction

Dexter Dias QC is an award-winning human rights lawyer, a prize-winner scholar and Visiting Researcher at Cambridge University (and previously Harvard). He is in constant demand to lecture all over the country and to think tanks internationally on race, racial justice and human rights. His TED Talk on speaking up about racism has garnered almost 1.5 million views, and is the most viewed talk on race by a non-American. Dexter is Special Human Rights Adviser to UNICEF UK, with a particular focus on safeguarding the rights of women and girls. His human rights report to Pa

Agents

Millie Hoskins

mhoskins@unitedagents.co.uk