

Richard Gwyn

Richard Gwyn grew up in south Wales, and following several years in London spent most of the 1980s travelling on and around the Mediterranean, chronicled in his memoir The Vagabond's Breakfast (Wales Book of the Year for nonfiction, 2012). His books include the novels The Colour of a Dog Running Away, Deep Hanging Out and The Blue Tent, and the poetry collections Walking on Bones, Being in Water, Sad Giraffe Café and Stowaway: A Levantine Adventure.

Agents

Anna Webber

awebber@unitedagents.co.uk

+44(0)203 214 0876

Associate

Seren Adams

sadams@unitedagents.co.uk

+44 (0)203 214 0956

Publications

Non-Fiction

Publication Details	Notes
AMBASSADOR OF NOWHERE 2024 Seren Books	In AMBASSADOR OF NOWHERE , Richard Gwyn takes the reader on a series of journeys across Latin America, in search of poems for his landmark anthology, The Other Tiger . He is driven through lunar landscapes in Patagonia, walks in the temperate rainforests of southern Chile and travels to a town on the Rio Magdalena that may or may not exist. From the betrayal of revolution in Nicaragua to the victims of guerrilla war in Colombia and the threat of narco gang violence in Mexico, Gwyn's lyrical, life-affirming account pays homage to a deeply conflicted and paradoxical continent and its writers. AMBASSADOR OF NOWHERE is also a book about translation, and the multiple representations of reality that the act of translation sets in motion, even as the author struggles to keep his own life on track when confronted by the demons of an earlier existence.