

Guy Haley

Writer

Guy Haley began his career in magazines before becoming an author. He's written over 45 novels, novellas and a frankly uncountable number of short stories. His original fiction includes Crash, Champion of Mars, and the Richards and Klein, Dreaming Cities, and the Gates of the World series (as K M McKinley). He has also created audio dramas, comics, film scripts and material for games. However, he is best known as a prolific contributor to Games Workshop's Black Library imprint, having sold over 1.3 million books set in their Warhammer universes.
