

Arden Jones

Children's author

Arden is a working-class writer from Essex. She lives with her musician husband, her two children, a crazy cat and an ever-growing TBR pile. She loves to write children's picture books, chapter books, and young adult fiction, and can't resist the challenge of creating a short story.

She is the founder and host of KidLit LIVE, a weekly live YouTube show that showcases both unpublished and published authors and illustrators and includes conversations with publishing professionals.
