

Katherine Hall

Actress / Producer / Writer

Katherine Rose Hall is an award-winning actress and screenwriter based in London and the South East, with an MA in Actor Performer Training from Rose Bruford College and classical training from LAMDA. Drawing from her former career as a Paramedic and her working-class roots, Katherine brings a unique understanding of the human experience to both her acting and writing.

Katherine is a passionate writer, developing a variety of TV and film projects that reflect her rich life experiences, including a drama series with World Productions called Life Savers inspired by her time as a paramedic. She has several upcoming projects for 2025, including After The Call, a film she wrote and co-produced, and The Nurse, which is currently gaining recognition at festivals.
