

Ciara O'Connor

Comedian / Writer

Ciara O'Connor represents one of society's most marginalised communities... girls who peaked in Year 9.

Having performed at venues such as The Clapham Grand and Top Secret Comedy Club, and with writing that has featured on RuPaul's Drag Race UK, O'Connor is an up-and-coming voice who ponders the big questions (why do we dedicate benches to dead people?)

In addition to performing as tour support for Kate Butch, Juno Birch and Grace Petrie's 2025 UK tours, O'Connor is in the process of writing her debut solo hour, with a streak of sold out work-in-progress shows across Manchester, Birmingham and London.

Leicester Mercury Comedian of the Year Finalist 2026

BBC New Comedy Awards Semi-Finalist 2025

Winner of TimeOut's search for Extra Hot Comedians 2025

So You Think You're Funny Runner-Up 2024

LGBTQ New Comedian of the Year Finalist 2024

Beat The Frog World Series Finalist 2024

"A voice that we need to hear, her story is an important story... a really good joke writer" (Jen Brister)

"An absolute talent" (Sue Perkins)

"A handy writer... cheekily provocative" (Chortle)

"A brilliant humour, gloriously funny" (Zoe Lyons)

"She's f*cking brilliant" (Danny Beard)

Agents

Serena Flynn

sflynn@unitedagents.co.uk

Live Comedy Assistant

Sojo Mckenzie

smckenzie@unitedagents.co.uk