

Dr Julia Martins

I am a public historian specialising in the history of gender and medicine. I hold a PhD in history from King's College London, following postgraduate degrees in France and Italy and undergraduate studies in Brazil. I am the creator of Living History, a YouTube channel and blog dedicated to rigorous historical storytelling. My general research interests are cultural history and feminism, and my writing has appeared in publications including History Extra, Epoch magazine, and Wellcome Stories.

Agents

Laura Macdougall

LMacdougall@unitedagents.co.uk

Assistant

Eleanor Horn

ehorn@unitedagents.co.uk

02032140831