Other

Production	Company	Notes
Andrew O'Hagan	'The Evening Standard'	"...the most beautifully elemental documentary film to have emerged in Britain in over a decade... I can't applaud it loud enough... Koppel reveals himself to be among the best listeners and watchers in the country... the beauty of his film lies in its ability to show us this truth... A reminder of the magic of cinema."
Antony Quinn	'The Independent'	"The elegiac tenderness and pictorial beauty becomes... quite compelling... A film forged from a real love of place."
John Banville	'Sight and Sound'	"Profound and utterly beguiling... it is simply - and it is simple in its sly way - a mutely gorgeous, moving and deeply poetic work of art... Sleep Furiously is, simply, a masterpiece."
Kevin Maher	'The Times'	"...the stand-out movie of the summer so far."
Nigel Andrews	'The Financial Times'	"Gideon Koppel's magnificent documentary... mixture of community portrait, pastoral fresco and musing on eternity... Koppel somehow infuses the idyllic with the impassioned, the bleak with the lyrical, the inarticulate gaze with the evangelistic vision."

Production	Company	Notes
PRESS FOR 'SLEEP FURIOUSLY':
Ray Bennett	'The Hollywood Reporter'	"Lyrical and haunting, Gideon Koppe's documentary feature 'Sleep Furiously' is a love letter to a way of life in rural Wales that is fast disappearing."
Sukhdev Sandhu	'The Daily Telegraph'	"Riveting... extraordinary, ethereal... it looks, sounds and somehow even smells wholly new"
Wendy Ide	'The Times'	"Here is a voice to be cherished... wonderful... Images of wistful sadness are interlaced with humour and moments of skin-prickling beauty that leave the audience undone... profoundly and unexpectedly moving."
