

Edward Taylor

Playwright

EDWARD TAYLOR grew up in Southend, Essex, where he aquired his love of the sea. He still aims to be in it or on it as often as possible.

He wrote and performed in the Cambridge University Footlights Revue of 1955 which played in London with great success. He was then invited to join the BBC as a writer-producer on a twelve-month contract. He accepted, and stayed for thirty-six years.
